1850 Jun mother, Agnes Standen died ae 49 at Lancaster.

1877 Mar father, Thomas Standen, died ae 76 at Lancaster.

AGNES LANGHORN, a sister to Mary Langhorn, was born at Dalston, Cumberland, where her grandparents were living. She was born only 19 days following her father's death in Yorkshire. The mother, Eleanor, and two daughters later moved to Lancaster where Agnes and Mary were raised by their stepfather, Leonard Miller. This is a record of Agnes' family to 1900 with historical information gleaned from research of the family and the history of England. The names in family units that are bold and capitalized are those children who married from each family.

Agnes (age 24 or 25) married Thomas Standen. Since no marriage was found in St. Mary at Lancaster where Thomas lived, we assume they were married in the Catholic Church whose record is unavailable.

Their first three children were christened in the Church of England at St. Mary. After that, Agnes was probably converted to Catholicism as the rest of their eight children were baptized in the Catholic Church at St. Peter in Lancaster.

Thomas was a butcher by trade. The job of the butcher was to slaughter, dress and sell meat for market.

The third child, James, became a Catholic priest and was assigned to St. Peter in Lancaster. He had the privilege of performing the marriages for his younger brother, William, and youngest sister, Mary Jane. James died at the age of 36 in Lancaster

Their daughter, Agnes, died at age 13. The other seven children grew to maturity. Sarah, number five, did not marry. At age 44 she was living with her youngest sister, Mary Jane, in West Derby near Liverpool.

The mother, Agnes, died in June of 1850 at the age of 49 when her youngest child was five years old. Thomas and his younger children lived with his eldest daughter, Ellen Dawson, and her family for over 20 years until his death in 1877 at age 76.

THOMAS PARKIN STANDEN, married Mary Gardner in May of 1851 at the Roman Catholic Chapel in Lancaster. Thomas' occupation was house painter and Mary's a servant at the time of their marriage. They were the parents of 9 children, one died as an infant. The family was found in the 1861 and 1871 census at Lancaster.

Thomas Parkin Standen died June 1875 at age 46, leaving his wife pregnant with their last child. Joseph Stephen was born seven months later.

In the 1881 census Mary was a widow (age 51). Seven of her children were living with her. The eldest, James, was evidently away working. Her 2 sons, Thomas and William, were painters, and son John, was a plumber. These boys were probably supporting the family. Agnes (age 20) was a milliner. The mother, Mary never remarried. She died September 1886, at age 57 at which time only one child, James (age 31) was married.

A letter from Leonard John Nuttall May 21, 1885 to son Leonard. . . . "Mrs. Dawson's brother, Parkin, who is now dead promised me that he would let me have all the genealogical records of their family that he could get; but he was very sick at the time. He may have got it together. If you can see William Dawson say this much, he may help you to get it from Parkin's widow or otherwise."

In the 1891 census of Lancaster, William, Mary and their first child, Joseph William, were lodgers living with Mary's sister, Ellen Gardner, who is an innkeeper and single. Three other relatives are living with them also.

Four children were found for William and Mary. William, the father died September, 1900 at age 43. On his death certificate his occupation is hotel keeper. He probably helped run the inn of his sister-in-law.

#5 1890 Oct JOHN LANGHORN STANDEN ae 27 md. JANE HOLLINGHURST ae 28 at Lancaster.
Occupation of John: Plumber and Glazier.

JOHN LANGHORN STANDEN, son of Thomas Parkin and Mary Standen married October, 1890 (age 27) to Jane Hollinghurst (age 28) in St. Peter's Catholic Church at Lancaster. His occupation was plumber and glazier. The business of the plumber consists in the art of casting and working of lead and using it in buildings, mainly making sheets and pipes of lead.

This couple was found in the 1891 census of Lancaster. Living with them were the three sisters of John: Agnes (age 30), Mary (age 25) and Eliza (age 21). Eliza was a pupil teacher. The occupations of Agnes and Mary were not recorded.

Descendants of John Langhorn Standen (son of James and Agnes Standen)

No. 4 1858 May JOHN LANGHORN STANDEN ae 23 md. MARGARET LEEDS ae 26 at Preston.
Occupation of John L.: Currier. Occupation of Margaret: Domestic Servant.

#1 1859 Apr son Thomas born Lancaster.
Family found in 1861, 1871, 1881 and 1891 Census at Lancaster.

JOHN LANGHORN STANDEN, son of Agnes and Thomas Standen (age 23) married Margaret Leeds (age 26) May 4, 1858 in the Catholic Church at Preston. John's occupation was currier, one who dressed and colored leather after the tanning process. Margaret was a domestic servant at the time of her marriage. Their son, Thomas was born the next year in Lancaster.

They appeared in the 1861 census of Lancaster with their son and Margaret's sister, Ann E. Leeds (age 32), a dressmaker. In the 1871 census was their son (age 11) and a nephew, Richard Swift, son of John's sister, Mary Jane Swift, who was living in Liverpool. In the 1881 and the 1891 censuses John and Margaret were working at the lunatic asylum in Lancaster. They were living in Scotforth, about 2½ miles south of Lancaster.

From the Richard Nuttall diary with Leonard John Nuttall: "Saturday May 16, 1885 we visited the Lancashire asylum where we met father's cousin, John Standen who is an attendant there. We were kindly shown through by him.....leaving the home of the unfortunates we made our way to Williamson park."

Family found in 1871, 1881 and 1891 Census (Jane's occupation: Baker).

1877 Jun father, William Standen, died ae 35 at Lancaster.

WILLIAM STANDEN, son of Agnes and Thomas Standen married May 3, 1865 to Jane Swarbrick of Liverpool. They were married in St. Peter's Catholic Church at Lancaster by his brother, James, who was a Catholic priest. He was the only son to follow his father's occupation of butcher.

The family was found in the 1871 census with 4 of their 5 children. No. 5, Mary was born in 1873.

The father, William, died in June of 1877 at age 35. That same month their son, James, age 9, also died. Four years later in the 1881 census, Jane, a widow, was earning her living by baking bread. She had 3 of her children with her (ages 12, 10, and 7). The eldest, Agnes, who by this time was age 15, was probably working as a domestic servant.

In the 1891 census, Jane still worked as a baker. Her two daughters were Elizabeth, a shop woman now age 27 and Mary, a school teacher now age 17. In August of 1897 daughter, Elizabeth, married Henry Verity in St. Peter's at Lancaster. His occupation: tobacconist.

No. 8 Md. No. 2: 1879 Oct MARY JANE SWIFT ae 33 md. HENRY EDWARDS ae 22 at West Derby. Occupation of Henry: Butcher.
Family found in 1881 Census at West Derby..

MARY JANE STANDEN, the youngest child of Agnes and Thomas Standen, (age 19) married William Swift (age 22) of Liverpool in St. Peter (Catholic Church) at Lancaster. They were married by Mary Jane's brother, James, a Catholic priest. William's occupation was butcher, and Mary Jane's a book binder. It is possible that Mary Jane may have been living in the Liverpool area where she met William.

Their first child was born at Everton, a village north of Liverpool. The next 5 children were born at West Derby, a village about 2 miles northwest from Liverpool. Mary Jane was only 30 years old when her last child was born. Sometime between 1875 and 1879 her husband, William died.

In October of 1879 Mary Jane (age 33) married Henry Edwards (age 22) in St. Oswald (Catholic Church) at West Derby. Since Henry was a butcher by trade, this may have been a marriage of convenience as Henry could carry on the family butcher business legally.

In the 1881 census at West Derby all six children were listed with Henry Edwards as the head of the family. The eldest daughter (age 14) was a milliner. Also living with them was Mary's sister, Sarah (age 44) and Mary's nephew, James Standen (age 28), son of Thomas Parkin Standen. James' was a butcher probably working with Henry Edwards who was only age 23.
